The red Spider is in perfect condition, allowing us to briefly assess the overall state of this Italian car. The bodywork is beautiful, with pristine paintwork free of damage and the correct wheels, which showcase the ceramic brakes. Naturally, the lights are clean, and details like the rubber seals and windows are fresh. The Scuderia logos on the front fenders are the icing on the cake.

The interior is also equipped with some highly sought-after options: the carbon fiber package is available, and the carbon fiber sport seats complete the interior beautifully. The rest of the interior, including the carpets, door panels, and of course, the dashboard, is in fantastic condition.

In the center of the dashboard, you'll find a tachometer in Ferrari red, one of the available options. The F430's electrically operated convertible top is, of course, in top condition.

The F430 comes with the necessary invoices, which show that the car recently underwent a comprehensive service at a Ferrari dealership. Among other things, the fan belt, air filter, transmission oil, and brake fluid were replaced.

The red convertible comes with its original booklets, a folder containing invoices, and various other documents. A unique opportunity to acquire an exceptionally well-maintained Ferrari F430 Spider in optimal technical condition.
